Valley Flood Crisis Increases

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES
Excitement over the picture "Gone With the Wind" will have scarcely died down, than another picture made from a book will be claiming our interest. It is the new Walt Disney film "Pinocchio." (And by the way the "ch" is pronounced like "k"). It is said that "Snow White," compared to "Pinocchio," "looks like a feeble chalk scrawl on a wall."

In "Pinocchio" Disney's art of soft focus caricature is at its best according to our authority Thomas Burton, a Hollywood critic. More than in any of Disney's pictures, "Pinocchio" expresses the pure joy he sees in life. And goodness knows that at a time such as this a little joy will not be amiss.

As you know "Pinocchio" is a child's story written by an Italian. It has been translated into almost every known language including Russian and Japanese. Its author, Carlo Lorenzini, was a humble Florentine clerk. He adopted the pen-name of "Collodi" because it was the name of the villa near Florence where his father was chef and where the little Carlo had spent many happy days playing and dreaming in the fantastic villa garden full of statues and fountains.

The high brow Saturday Review of Literature unbends since, after all, "Pinocchio" is a classic, to tell how the book came to be written. It was purely by accident. One of Lorenzini's friends was publishing a Children's Journal. Lorenzini had translated some French Fairy Tales and had written some children's stories with the necessary moral that was a requirement in those days, sent "The Adventures of a Puppet" to his friend. It was something he had "dashed-off" compounded of his childhood memories in the garden of Collodi and the stories handed down by word of mouth that he had heard from his mother. Pinocchio the puppet became popular with the children almost at once. Whenever the spirit would move him, Lorenzini would write an "Adventure" of Pinocchio and send it in to the Journal. Indeed Lorenzini never knew that he had written a classic that would endure itself to children the world over for many a day to come. An editor bought the copyright and sold over a million copies of "Pinocchio." It was a case of the editor making the fortune and not the author.

"Pinocchio," written almost a hundred years ago, is a human story which still finds its way to the reader's heart, to the young or old. "Under the simple adventures of the puppet," a famous Italian critic writes, "is the story of hope and fear, joy and disillusionment, death and transfiguration."

While we are on the subject of children's stories you may be interested to know that Charlotte Jackson, wife of the San Francisco Chronicle's Bookman, Joseph Henry Jackson, has written a story for very young children called "Tito, the Pig of Guatemala," which will be out this week. Mrs. Jackson accompanied her husband to Guatemala as reader of "Notes on a Drum" will remember, so that the material for her background is authentic. And one more thing about the Jacksons, "Mexican Interlude."

Two Burn To Death In $700,000 Fire

ABERDEEN, Wash. (U.P.)—Fire destroyed the $700,000 plant of the Aberdeen Plywood Company today, burning two workmen to death. Eight other members of the night crew barely escaped with their lives.

More than eighty members of El Dorado Lodge No. 26, F. & A. M., met Thursday evening at the Masonic temple for a turkey dinner which was followed by a meeting of the lodge during which George Davenport was raised as a Master Mason.

CITY ELECTION WARMING UP

Numerous Petitions Are Taken Out; Robert Hook Candidate For Council

Interest is increasing in the Placerville city election of April 9th. Although it appeared early in the week that there might be a scarcity of candidates when the time for filing nominations expires on Saturday of next week, it was evident today that at least as far as the election for councilmen is concerned, there is likely to be competition.

Two candidates for election to the council were in the field Friday morning and City Clerk Esther A. Mahler reported that several other petitions are being circulated.

The second aspirant to file is Robert A. Hook, manager of the Placerville Coca Cola Bottling Works. His petition was filed Friday morning. M. T. Kelly was his verification deputy.

Earlier in the week, Reuel Whigam filed his candidacy. During Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, the city clerk reported, "seven or eight" petitions were applied for and if all of them are verified and returned there will be a contest for all three posts of the council in which the terms expire this year.

The councilmen whose terms expire are George E. Fausted, James K. Pierson and Sid Price. Mr. Price, it has been indicated, will be a candidate for election. The term which he is now serving is by appointment to fill the unexpired term of the late Fred N. Hosking.

Registration for the municipal election closed on February 29th and the time for filing nominations in the election, in which three councilmen, a city clerk and a city treasurer are to be named, expires on Saturday March 9th.

The public support of the ticket sale for the concert and variety show, which will be given by the Sacramento De Molay Band of fifty pieces at the Shakespeare clubhouse at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night has been general and the prospects are for a large attendance.

The band, weather permitting, will lead a Main Street parade at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Convention registration opens at noon Saturday evening when the first formal event of the convention, the divisional ball, will be held at the Shakespeare Clubhouse. During the afternoon the De Molay basketball championships will be played at the high school gymnasium.

Sunday's meetings include a general business meeting in the forenoon following which the members will go in a body to the Federated Church to attend church services. This will be followed by a luncheon at the Masonic temple and by the concluding business session of the convention.

Uncle Sam Puts His Tanks Through Their Paces

Six battalions of tanks are shown in formation at Fort Benning, Ga., opening a program of field training ordered by the War Department. Over the land monsters hover great fighting planes. The tanks maneuvered under combat conditions, crashing through woods and houses, fighting off attacking planes and crossing rivers (inset), through smoke screens. (Central Press)

CONSERVATION WEEK MAPPED

Motion Pictures Will Carry Message To Schools, Civic, Community Groups

The sixth annual observance of California Conservation Week, on March 7 to 14th, in El Dorado County, will feature the showing of motion pictures in schools and before civic and other community groups.

This was determined at a meeting of the Conservation Week committee on Thursday, with Charles W. Doe, Jr., of Diamond Springs, as chairman.

Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Doe are Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith, secretary; and Robert H. Weldman, field superintendent of the Institute of Forest Genetics; Willard Ausin, state fire warden; Glenn Paxton, area conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service; and Ivan Lilley, farm advisor.

The committee ruled against the poster contest in the schools, which has been a feature of the program for the week in the county for some years past, in favor of the motion picture presentation.

The various films to be presented will demonstrate the effect of conservation in the forests, in preserving the soil, and in wild life management, as against the wasteful practices of carelessness in regard to these natural resources.

RURAL AREA DEATHS BLAMED FOR MOUNTING TOLL IN TRAFFIC

CHICAGO, (U.P.)—Americans, although shocked by the human slaughter in war torn Europe, appear resigned to an increasing peace-time slaughter of thousands on U. S. highways, the National Safety Council reports.

Col. John Stillwell council president, reported that 2,703 persons were killed in traffic accidents in January—6 per cent more than in January a year ago and the fourth consecutive month of increases over the previous year.

"The situation is made ironic by the fact that the attacks in Europe are made upon an enemy and inspired by patriotism, whereas here we are killing fellow citizens, and for no reason except carelessness," he said.

The council blamed rural areas for the increase. Traffic deaths in all reporting cities were down slightly—less than 1 per cent—but were up about 8 per cent in rural areas. Oakland, Calif., showed the greatest improvement among cities of 250,000 population with a decrease of 73 per cent in deaths January this year from the same month last year.

NUGGETS STUFF

Some time ago we were urged to make some reference to the dirty habit of expectorating upon the public sidewalk or on the floors of public buildings and we refrained from complying with the request then because the time did not seem opportune.

The necessity for calling the matter to public attention recalls a pair of signs which still may be found in some lunch rooms about the country. One of them reads:

"Eat here and keep your wife for a pet."

Another suggests, "If you spit on the floor at home, do it here, too; we want you to feel perfectly at home."

The unfortunate feature of the situation is that these lines may not be read by the parties complained about. The city has on ordinance prohibiting spitting upon the sidewalk for health reasons.

The police officers have other duties and can not be expected to trail suspects about the community waiting for them to expectorate upon the sidewalk and so we'll just sign off on the subject and hope that everyone will conduct themselves downtown in the same manner that they behave at home.

Since we have an excuse to get into print for the day, we'll mention having noticed that the Empire Theater has booked "Our Neighbors, The Carters," for a showing late in March.

It isn't as long as "Gone With the Wind," nor half so lavish, but seeing it will prove a real experience.

Charles W. Martin was downtown Friday for the first time in a month. Mr. Martin has not been so well, but has improved sufficient to permit him to come downtown to celebrate today his eightieth birthday.

Many Happy Returns of the Day, Mr. Martin.

Saturday is Edwin Green's birthday and Sunday is Mrs. Emma McCumsey's birthday, and so, happy birthday to them, too.

Mrs. McCumsey, Mr. Martin and Mr. Green usually join in a picnic to celebrate their birthdays, but this year the observance is being postponed to await better weather.

In addition to Tax Collector Truscott, who had a birthday on February 29th, Bryce Euer, of the Bar E ranch, near White Rock, had a "leap year birthday," too. Mr. Euer's birthday was his "ninth."

C. C. Herbert, forest road superintendent, was in the Rubicon section on Friday.

FRUIT AND NUT TREE CENSUS

Growers To Register Orchards, New Plantings With J. A. Winkelman

California fruit growers are pooling their records of planting that they may all know more about the state productive acreage of each type of tree fruits and nuts within the state.

All preparations are complete for the growers' registration of such plantings with the county agricultural commissioner under the plan set forth by the 1939 legislature.

Details of how registrations are to be made were announced by County Agricultural Commissioner John A. Winkelman who is ready (Continued on Page Three)

Main St. Sites To Be Rebuilt

New Buildings Will Replace Three Lost In Fire During Week

The three frame buildings which bore the brunt of the damage in this week's Main Street fire, will be replaced with modern structures.

This was learned Friday from Henry Steitz, owner of the building occupied by the Golden Barber Shop, and from N. Fox, owner of the building which was occupied by the Pony Express restaurant and the Tahoe Meat Market.

That is about as much as either of the owners would say Friday and this was taken to indicate that their preparations are yet in a preliminary stage.

FINNS ADMIT RED TROOPS IN SUBURBS OF VIIPURI

HELSINKI (U.P.)—Russians blasted their way to the outskirts of Viipuri today, bringing the war now entering its fourth month, to a critical point.

Finns virtually admitted that their second largest city was untenable, that Russian occupation was only a question of time and that the Russians were now so close that they could see the fires their artillery had set.

BERLIN, (U.P.)—Sumner Welles, United States under-secretary of state, arrived today for his conference with Adolf Hitler and other high German officials.

"Wireless" Message Tells Distress

REDDING (U.P.)—Shades of the old West! At the height of the flood, smoke signals were seen coming from a small wooded island within the city limits of Redding. It turned out to be an Indian woodchopper, marooned on the island for three days and three nights without food or shelter.

An airplane dropped food to him.

HOOP TITLE AT STAKE TONIGHT

Cougars Play Eagles In Championship Of County Basketball League

The nine-week playing season of the county basketball league reaches a climax tonight at the high school gymnasium in the finals of the championship playoff, with the high school's Cougars pitted against the undefeated Eagles in the feature game.

The preliminary will be between Mac's Jumbos and the Snowline CCC five.

The Cougars won from the Snowline quintet Wednesday night in the opening round of the play-offs, 41 to 30, while the Eagles emerged winners over Mac's Jumbos by a two-point margin, 27 to 25, after two extra periods of play.

The Eagles played the entire league schedule without losing a game, although in some contests they won by scant margins and, observers felt, were lucky to win.

Some of the fans are convinced that the Eagles will need to display against the Cougars tonight a vast improvement over their form in the game Wednesday night, or they will be likely to have their wings clipped.

Snowline's performance against the Cougars Wednesday night was a marked improvement over their showing earlier in the race and followers of the league promise that Mac's Jumbos will find the CCC outfit plenty of competition in the preliminary game.

The Jumbos were in fine fettle against the Eagles Wednesday night, and if they set the same pace against Snowline, the preliminary game tonight will be no less thrilling and interesting than the championship tilt.

Pair Escape Death As Private Plane Falls

BAKERSFIELD, (U.P.)—A private airplane crashed in the Tehachapi Mountains near Fort Tejon 35 miles south of here during a storm last night, injuring a woman passenger who had chartered the plane to catch a boat in San Pedro.

Gracia Patton, Bellevue, Wash., was brought to a Bakersfield hospital, suffering a fractured right leg. The pilot, Andy Andrews, of Sacramento, suffered shock but was not hospitalized.

SUTTER COUNTY LEVEE BREAKS

Five Of Six Feared Drowned Are Found Clinging To Tree Tops

The body of W. L. Young, 50, of Marysville, father of Mrs. Jack Meyers, of Placerville, was recovered Thursday night near Knight's Landing. He had, apparently, been drowned Tuesday night after he abandoned his car on Walnut Lane, after the car had become stalled in the overflow from flooded Cache Creek.

Mr. Young was known among Placerville business men, having visited this area from time to time for the past twenty years as a meat and grocery salesman.

D. F. McCallum, of the state Division of Water Resources staff, who with Fred Paget escaped drowning Tuesday in an accident in which Harold E. Von Bergen was drowned, is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stephen, of Placerville.

Paget, as is well known, formerly was employed with the Forest Service here. All were Division of Water Resources employees and were in a boat together when the boat upset.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen, formerly of Quincy, Plumas County, are staying at Hotel Raffles and Mr. Stephen is mining near Coloma.

They have received word that their son-in-law is resting easily but that it will be a day or so yet before it will be known whether he will be spared pneumonia as a result of his near escape from drowning.

Dog's Head To Be Examined

City Will Seek To Learn Petrie Family Pet Died Of Rabies Infection

Pointing out that there is no cause for alarm and that he does not wish to arouse public interest in the matter, Chief of Police James Morton said Friday that the head of a dog belonging to the Willis Petrie family is being sent to laboratories at Berkeley to determine whether the dog had rabies.

"People can assist us in keeping a check on the possibility of rabies in the community if they will notify us when they have been bitten by a dog," Morton said.

"The dog should not be killed immediately," he said, "unless it is running amuck and it is very obvious that the dog is mad, since it is within the realm of possibility that a dog may have a rabies infection which of so recent date that an analysis of the head will not disclose the infection."

"A dog that is suspected of being so infected should be penned up, where it can be observed, and so that if it has rabies there will be opportunity for a clear case to develop."

Morton said it was reported that the Petrie dog had bitten his young master. The dog died Thursday night.

Pork Prices Down

The price of pork is lower than it has been for months. It is good luck for the thrifty homemaker when foods which are high in food value, are low in price. There is a very large variety of pork cuts suitable for every occasion, and all of them are nutritious as well. Breakfast bacon, ham, pork brains and sausages are favorites for the morning meal. Chops, ham and sausage combination dishes are appreciated on the luncheon table. While the joint roasts, fresh or smoked ham, and crown roasts fit in well for the evening family meal.

Among the pork cuts not always given the consideration they deserve are pork hocks. These when served with sauerkraut, make a particularly tasty combination that hits the spot when dinner is called these wintry nights.

Unusal Pies

Here are some new recipes to add to your collection of choice pies.

Place in lined tin and over the top make a meringue of the egg-whites with one table-spoon sugar, make this very stiff and pile on top of the pie. Bake in a slow oven for 20 minutes. Watch closely. Remove from oven and set in a cool place until time to serve.

to handle all such registrations of plantings in this county.

Standardized forms have been developed and provided by the state department of agriculture in order that these records may be brought together on a similar basis.

The purpose of tree registration, Winkelman said, is to provide and maintain for the fruit and nut growers and all other interested groups the best possible inventory information showing the total acreages of each of these crops in all counties.

When registration of all plantings now standing is completed, this inventory information will show totals by age for each variety, which is information of special value for these California crops.

In order to keep this information up to date growers are required to report to the county agricultural commissioner acreage decreases from any cause and new plantings.

To obtain prompt recording of new plantings, growers making plantings of an acre or more are required to get in touch with Winkelman's office before planting.

They will be furnished a planting registration certificate and a planting report form for their use. In El Dorado county, planting certificates will be made available by calling the commissioner's office.

This type of inventory information is acknowledged to be of special value to all growers and will be particularly useful since this registration is state-wide and similar summaries will be available for each county and will be combined for the entire state.

Winkelman emphasized the need for all growers of fruit and nut crops in the county to give their full assistance in obtaining this information.

KELSEY

Mrs. Eugenia Bruins, former superintendent of schools, in Alpine county, was a guest at the Keller home for a few days last week. Since the demand for Northside property has become so brisk, Mrs. Bruins, who owns eighty acres, the former Murphy land, came to investigate several offers, as this land is both mining property and farming land. Los Angeles parties have made two trips in regard to this property, the last trip coming in from Auburn on account of safer roads.

Jack Altermost, one of the recent beneficiaries of the mining boom, having sold his Blue Lead property to Wilton Timmis, has so completely recovered after a stay at the Sanatorium, that he took a trip to Fresno where he found a brother whom he had not heard from since Jack Rush of 98 Jack returned last Saturday accompanied by his brother and family of grown-up children. He took them to the Alhambra and Blue Lead to show them his former home and mines.

James N. Kelly has signed an easement over his mines, the Big Sandy and Gray Eagle, due west to the Eureka Mine, owned by Bert and O. Simmons, Bertha Langer, and Fred Moler. The latter two are residents of New York, wintering at San Diego and are the financial backers of the Simmons Brothers. Bert has already put down a new double compartment shaft 80 feet east of the original. The new one is 100 feet deep, but a new turbine pump, to be run by power, is needed to take care of the water. A change room has been added and they propose to sink a shaft to a depth of 250 feet, although cross cutting and drifting will begin at 125 feet where the new shaft should intersect the ledge.

Too bad the recent storm with cloudy nights prevented those interested from seeing the brilliant display of most all the planets in the western sky—a sight we will never see again.

The terrific storm is creating havoc with the Chili Bar road. The devastating fire of last summer so cleaned up the brush cover on the steep hillsides that torrents of water rush down across the road and weaken the shoulder of the highway where not taking it completely out. The guard stakes sometimes must be placed almost in the center of the road. We on the Northside desire the road to be made four feet wider all the way and ten feet on most of the turns. Strangers return by way of Auburn and when coming to the Kelsey district come in by way of Auburn. People in the next district north attend the picture shows in Auburn not knowing what the Chili Bar grade will be like from day to day. One of the owners of the Kelsey mine rents a house in Auburn, 25 miles distant, and drives to and from the mine which is seven miles from Placerville.

The long heavy school bus with thirty students has taken a vacation until some temporary repairs are made.

WILLIAM POWLSEN, MYRNA LOY and William Powell in "Another Thin Man," coming to the Empire Theatre Sunday for a two-day showing.

"ANOTHER THIN MAN" TO GRACE EMPIRE SCREEN SUNDAY, MONDAY

Shifting with a deft pace from baby parties to bizarre crime, from marital mirth to murder thrills, and from palatial Long Island estates to the dives of New York, "Another Thin Man," latest of the sparkling "Thin Man" series, comes Sunday to the Empire Theatre.

It teams that favorite screen pair, William Powell and Myrna Loy, once again as the shrewd and witty Detective Nick Charles and his charming but somewhat daffy wife, Nora. Their gay banter, which enlivened "The Thin Man" and "After The Thin Man" the other pictures in the series, gets away to a new high in this offering due to the introduction of a Thin Man, Jr., the baby whose arrival was predicted at the end of the preceding picture. The laughs, centering around Nickie, Jr., as played by 8-months-old William Poulsen, reach party given in his honor by under-world pals of Detective Charles. The story brings the Charles family and their quizzical wire-haired terrier, Asta, to New York for a vacation. No sooner have they arrived than the financial adviser of Nora Charles is slain on his Long Island estate and Nick is called to investigate. In the typically shrewd fashion of the "Thin Man" sleuth, Nick solves the murder, even though he has to take time off now and then to rescue Nora from a tough New York dive, attend the baby party and upset plans for his own murder.

Saturday's feature, for one day only, following tonight's last showing of "Marx Bros. at the Circus," is "Bad Little Angel," with Gene Reynolds and Virginia Weidler.

Mr. Jackson's first book which has been selling steadily these last four years and has been a favorite with prospective visitors to Mexico will be reissued by the MacMillan Company in a dollar edition.

We would like to call your attention to two new books for adults in which young people are the principle characters. One is "Solitaire" by Edwin Corle in which a lively ten-year old girl Virginia Stewart is Pasadena, the background, a dual one—the prosperous home of the vice-president of a bank and a hobo camp. Mr. Corle who, by the way, has been in Placerville and likes our town, writes in a vein that is both serious and humorous. "Solitaire" is no time killing book. You will be the richer for having read it.

The other book is Dan Wickenden's "Walk Like a Mortal" in which a seventeen-year-old high school boy is the central figure. If you read Dan Wickenden's "Running of the Deer" and if you have not put it down on your list, you will know how this young writer approaches his subject with a sympathy and a freshness that is new in modern writing. To read "Walk Like a Mortal" is sheer pleasure.

FOUNTAIN, LUNCH COUNTER AT BREWSTERVILLE INN HAS DANCE FLOOR

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clark, who came to this county two years ago from Washington state have recently leased Brewsterville Inn, located just beyond the easterly city limits on U. S. Highway 50. The couple have two small children.

During the past few weeks the place has been thoroughly renovated and rearranged, stocked with soft drinks and a lunch counter opened. Mr. Clark states that no alcoholic drinks will be sold. Sandwiches, coffee and hot chocolate and soda waters are being featured. During the summer months soda fountain service will be maintained, Mr. Clark said.

In addition a well-kept dance floor is available, with mechanical music.

The management states it is their plan to create a clean recreational center at Brewsterville Inn, catering to young folk groups of the county, church, civic and fraternal organization functions.

The first party of this nature was given Thursday night, when more than 30 members of the L. D. S. Church, Placerville Branch, gathered at the Inn for a basket social and an evening of dancing and entertainment.

Ivan Campion Returns To U. C. Hospital

Ivan Campion, for the past four months a patient at Placerville Sanatorium, was removed to the U. C. Hospital at Berkeley Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Omer McGee and daughter, Anne, and Mrs. Frank Cole, Ivan's mother, accompanied him to the bay district.

Mr. Campion suffered a back fracture which was treated at the U. C. Hospital several months ago after which he was removed to Placerville Sanatorium in a cast.

During the past four months he has remained a hospital patient. Now he has returned to Berkeley where the doctors will remove the cast and note the results of the earlier treatment.

Valley Flood Crises Grows

of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers below Sacramento.

"Flood waters are concentrating in the lower Sutter by-pass and the delta region, where the flood hazard is rapidly increasing," said Fletcher.

He added that the lower San Joaquin river will continue rising moderately during the next two or three days and while there is no serious flood situation in prospect on the river itself its flow will add to the heavy flow of water in the delta area from the Sacramento.

Fletcher also said that extreme danger will continue during the next 24 hours on sections of the Sacramento river between Colusa and Sacramento where many levees have broken and large areas flooded.

Gaining new tury as it slowed up in the flat bottom lands of the Sacramento Valley, the Sacramento River broke through its levees in western Sutter County today and spread a muddy stream over extensive farming areas.

The flood engulfed an automobile carrying six refugees near Meridian and all were feared to have been drowned until five of them were found later, clinging to tree tops. Mrs. Frank McHarty, 52, was missing and believed dead.

This brought the toll of lives in the flood to four. Property damage was estimated at over $5,000,000 and between 4,000 and 5,000 were homeless.

Maitland Pennington, publisher of the Meridian Index, said the river had overflowed approximately 30,000 acres of land and that preparations were being made to evacuate the town of Meridian.

The town has about 500 residents. Pennington said the waters were about 1/2-mile from the town and rising rapidly.

The levee break occurred about six miles below the town of Colusa, on the Sutter county side of the river. Pennington said the

GOLD HILL NOTES

From 12 to 2 p. m. Friday the Gold Hill school was a scene of a Washington's Birthday party when the pupils entertained their little brothers and sisters. After a lunch at a very appropriately decorated table the program contained readings, songs and games. The birthday cake placed between two miniature cherry trees pleased the little folks greatly.

New breaks also were reported at Knights Landing, about 30 miles down the river from Colusa. The stream was about a foot over its banks, it was reported, but the town of 300 persons was not in immediate danger.

A crew of 150 WPA laborers immediately started throwing up a secondary levee.

Further rain was predicted for the Siskiyou Mountains, where the Sacramento River rises, some time tomorrow.

fence for Elwin Veerkamp the past week.

The ladies of the Grange have set March second as the date of their play to be given at the Coloma Hall.
